

Contribute to the Futures of Education initiative [1]

In September 2019, Unesco launched the Futures of Education initiative to reimagine how knowledge and learning can shape the futures of humanity in a context of increasing complexity, uncertainty and precarity. The project will mobilize voices from around the world. It relies on a broad, open consultative process that involves youth, educators, civil society, governments, business and other stakeholders. Unesco has convened an independent International Commission under the leadership of President Sahle-Work Zewde of Ethiopia to develop a global report on the Futures of Education for release in 2021. Unesco has launched a set of online platforms to invite people from all over the world to offer their opinions and visions. From children and youth to educators, researchers, representatives from civil society, and business and technology – every perspective counts. Contributions will be collected through different channels, including a short survey, submissions in writing as well as through artwork. All of the writing, artwork, and survey submissions will be carefully analyzed and will inform the global report on the futures of education.
